

SquareUp — Cookie Policy

Effective date: May 21, 2026

This Cookie Policy explains how SquareUp, Inc. ("SquareUp") uses cookies and similar technologies on our website at joinsquareup.com. It should be read together with our Website Privacy Policy (Document 1). This Cookie Policy does not apply to the conduct of research interviews.

1. What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website. "Similar technologies" include pixels, tags, web beacons, software development kits, and local storage, which work in comparable ways. We refer to all of these as "cookies" in this policy. Cookies can be set by us ("first-party") or by a third party whose service we use ("third-party"), and can last only for your browsing session ("session" cookies) or for a set period ("persistent" cookies).

2. Why we use cookies

We use cookies to make our website work, to keep it secure, to understand how visitors use it, and — where you allow it — to measure and support our marketing. The categories we use are described below.

3. Categories of cookies we use

Category	Purpose	Consent
Strictly necessary	Enable core functions such as page navigation, security, load balancing, and remembering your cookie choices. The website cannot work properly without these.	Always on — not optional
Performance & analytics	Help us understand how visitors find and use our website, so we can improve it.	On with your consent, where required
Functional	Remember choices you make, such as language or region, for a more tailored experience.	On with your consent, where required
Marketing & advertising	Help us measure campaign performance and show relevant SquareUp content on other websites.	On with your consent

As of the effective date, joinsquareup.com uses only strictly-necessary cookies. As we add analytics and marketing tools, the providers below will set cookies in the categories above. We will update this policy and, where required by law, request your consent before any non-essential cookies are used.

- Strictly necessary: our website platform's session and security cookies, and a cookie that records your consent choices.
- Performance & analytics: Google Analytics.
- Marketing & advertising: advertising and measurement tools from Meta (Facebook and Instagram), Google, LinkedIn, Reddit, and TikTok.

4. Third-party cookies

Some cookies are set by third parties that provide services on our website, such as analytics and advertising providers. These third parties may use the information they collect according to their own privacy policies. We do not control third-party cookies; you can usually manage them through the third party's settings or the controls below.

5. How long cookies last

Session cookies are deleted when you close your browser. Persistent cookies remain for a defined period — typically from a few days up to 24 months, depending on the cookie — or until you delete them.

6. How to manage cookies

- Cookie banner / preferences. Where we display a cookie banner or preference centre, you can accept or reject non-essential cookies and change your choice at any time.
- Browser settings. Most browsers let you block or delete cookies through their settings. Blocking some cookies may affect how the website works.
- Opt-out tools. You can opt out of certain interest-based advertising through industry tools such as the Digital Advertising Alliance (aboutads.info/choices) and the Network Advertising Initiative (optout.networkadvertising.org).

7. Do Not Track and Global Privacy Control

Some browsers can send a "Do Not Track" signal or a Global Privacy Control (GPC) signal. Where required by applicable law, we treat a recognised opt-out preference signal, such as GPC, as a valid request to opt out of the sale or sharing of personal information for the browser that sends it. There is no common industry standard for "Do Not Track," so our response to that signal may be limited.

8. Changes to this Cookie Policy

We may update this Cookie Policy as our website and practices change. We will update the effective date and, where appropriate, notify you through the website.
